- 1. observation
- 2. feeling
- 3. need
- 4. request

Based on work by Marshall B. Rosenberg, Ph.D.

"Jane, this morning you were late picking me up for the meeting (OBSERVATION). When I'm late for a meeting I feel anxious (FEELING)."

(conversation unfolds about situation)

"Would you be willing to leave 10 minutes earlier so that we could arrive on time (NEED/REQUEST)?"

- 3. requirement
- 4. explore

"Jane, I've noticed that you've been late three times this week (OBSERVATION); the impact of this is that we are unable to serve members on time (IMPACT). The requirement for this position is that you be here on time unless there is an unavoidable circumstance (REQUIREMENT)."

(EXPLORE) how this requirement will be met, their commitment, and implications if expectations are not met.

"Our work, our relationships, and our lives succeed or fail one conversation at a time."
